

ENRICO CARUSO DIES IN NAPLES

THREE INJURED; MANY IN DANGER IN TRAIN CRASH

Pullmans Leave Rails As Train Pulls Out Of Detroit.

NEAR CATASTROPHE

East Bound Train Stopped
After Brushing Wreckage of Other.

Detroit, Aug. 2.—Three persons were seriously injured and more than a hundred others imperiled when six cars of the Chicago bound Michigan Central all-Pullman train leaving Detroit at 12:30 a. m. left the tracks at Inkster near here early today. A catastrophe like the one at Porter, Indiana, was narrowly averted when east bound train number 20, leaving Chicago at 5:40 reached the scene. Although it brushed the side of the wreckage, it was stopped before any additional damage was done.

The engine of the westbound train turned over, pinning the engineer beneath the wreckage. Passengers and trainmen worked two hours to release him. He was seriously injured.

The engine of the eastbound train jumped when his engine brushed the wreckage of the westbound train. He escaped with minor injuries.

Six cars left the rails tearing up the tracks for several hundred feet. The fireman of the westbound train received a slight injury to his hand when he jumped.

One of the baggage cars is almost a complete wreck.

The injured were rushed to hospitals before their names could be learned. Officials are investigating to learn the cause of the wreck.

HARDING CRUISES TOWARD PORTLAND FOR BRIEF REST

President Will Spend Five Days at Weeks' Summer Home.

Portland, Maine, Aug. 2.—President Harding early today was cruising along the Maine coast in the Mayflower bound for this port.

The President's objective is Mount Prospect, the summer home of Secretary of War Weeks, at Lancaster, New Hampshire, a motor journey of some 150 miles from Portland.

At Mount Prospect the President hopes to set himself in the midst of leisure for at least five days.

Mrs. Harding, recently indisposed, has already benefited much from the vacation and she is looking wonderfully well.

Captain Holmes of the Mayflower has promised to put the Mayflower alongside the docks here by early forenoon.

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Aug. 2.—Fire broke out in the New York Stock Exchange building this morning but was extinguished before it did much damage.

The exchange opened at 10 o'clock but immediately suspended until 11 owing to the smoke which was still in the building.

Later the opening was put off until noon.

The blaze was caused by crossed electric wires.

CALLED BY DEATH AT AGE OF 89

John Heester, aged 89, inmate of the County Hospital passed away at that institution, Monday evening at five o'clock, death being caused by the infirmities of age. Mr. Heester has made his home at the County Hospital for the past five years and previous to that time resided in this city. During his residence in this city he was employed as a carpenter.

The only surviving relative is a step daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Schwinn of 2354 East Fifth Street, Dayton.

Famous Singer Succumbs To Attack of Peritonitis

Noted Tenor Dies at Naples, Italy, Following Serious Illness Which Brought on Recurrence of Old Lung Trouble—End Comes Early Tuesday.

Naples, August 2.—The golden voice of Enrico Caruso is still forever. The great and spectacular fight which the world famous tenor has waged against disease ended early this morning when Caruso died here from acute peritonitis. Mrs. Caruso was at the bedside.

Caruso's death was not unexpected.

The attending specialists had announced last night that the patient was sinking rapidly and that he would barely survive another 24 hours, even if he held out that long.

At midnight it was said that Caruso was dying. His strength was ebbing swiftly and already the death coma was hovering over him.

The physicians were in constant attendance and continuously administered restoratives but the battle was ended.

Caruso became ill last week and was brought from Sorrento to this

NEW YORK SORROWS AS WORD OF DEATH OF CARUSO COMES

Friends and Admirers of Singer Grieve Over
His Demise.

New York, Aug. 2.—Broadway was touched, deep in its real heart, beneath the paint and the bright lights, by the word received today that Enrico Caruso, its beloved star, was dead.

The famous tenor's fellow artists of the opera had fled the heat of the city but his friends and admirers of the orchestra and gallery seats were saddened by the news and on every side, in theatrical circles today were heard expressions of sympathy and regret.

From "Little Italy" where Caruso was almost a god, came hundreds of his fellow countrymen to get the news from bulletin boards.

None of Caruso's personal friends here had received any intimation of his illness. They had believed him recovering from his recent throat trouble.

Behind the scenes at the Metropolitan opera house stage hands and carpenters busy preparing the vast stage here Caruso knew so many triumphs stopped their work this morning to gather and discuss the famous tenor's death.

As the day wore on and succeeding bulletins reached the opera house little knots of Italians gathered outside, waiting to hear the latest word of their idol.

Broadway sorrowed, but in "Little Italy" grief at the tenor's death was marked by frank and open tears. Little children, who had been brought up to regard Caruso as greater than the President wept in the streets. Shutters went up and shop doors were locked for the day. "Little Italy's" population went into mourning.

Italian flags were hung from many windows.

Never in his career as a star had the world famous tenor received a truer or more fervent tribute.

COUNCIL TO TAKE UP FAR-EAST ISSUE

London, Aug. 2.—The inter allied supreme council during the meeting in Paris next week will probably discuss President Harding's far-eastern conference with a view to reaching a unanimous decision on the policy that the European allied powers will pursue at Washington according to a report circulated by the Central News this afternoon.

city where the facilities for medical treatment was better.

Four specialists were retained. Upon diagnosis it was found that the singer was suffering from an abscess between the liver and the diaphragm. Caruso was very weak and had suffered from the strain of previous illness, but an operation was decided on as the only means of saving his life.

Acute peritonitis followed the operation and Caruso's condition grew steadily worse over Sunday and Monday. He knew that death was near but maintained his old time cheerfulness.

Mrs. Caruso and the singer's brother were constantly at the bedside giving such comfort as they could.

By Monday night Caruso's heart was fluttering so feebly that camphor was administered. It was reported also that oxygen was administered.

Caruso's last illness developed at a time when he was believed to be recovering from his long illness and numerous operations in New York last winter. He told his friends that he was regaining his vigor and was already looking forward to a successful season with the Metropolitan

ELOPED WITH CHAUFFEUR TO MELT "ICE- BERG" HUSBAND

MRS. ARTHUR JACOBUS

The ire of Catham, N. J., has been aroused, as a result of the publicity brought to that little town when Mrs. Arthur Jacobus eloped with her husband's chauffeur, Filuccio Spagnolia, for no other reason, as Mrs. Jacobus explained it, than "to melt her iceberg husband."

Spagnolia and Mrs. Jacobus were arrested in Baltimore, where they were sharing the same room. During the three weeks they were away it is alleged that they shared their funds and sought work together.

Mrs. Jacobus said she conceived this bold adventure thinking it would arouse her husband's love. "Don't try tricks on a man," says the disillusioned Mrs. Jacobus now. "Be more direct—throw pots and pans at him. I got the biggest surprise of my life when my husband didn't come running after me." In spite of the exciting events of the past three weeks, Mrs. Jacobus is hopeful of a reconciliation. Spagnolia who is being held in $15,000 bail, declares his innocence stating that he was acting as a faithful servant and carrying out orders from his mistress. During their three week escapade the family chauffeur told authorities that Mrs. Jacobus made him sleep on the floor.

The accident happened at the end of a free pleasure trip on which Denison was taking his friend, Beeghly. Confused stories regarding the cause of the crash, still cloud the real reason for the plane falling to the ground, although Denison's version is that his "stick" or control lever, "froze," or became tight so that he was unable to move it, or control his left wing, which appeared to be collapsed.

The engine, he said, was in good shape, and by throwing the power on when a few feet of the ground he managed to right the machine so that it fell on its wheels. Instead of nosing into the ground.

Denison is a flyer for the Service Aviation Training and Transportation Company of Wabash, Ind., and came here from Mason, Ohio, Monday, accompanied by his mechanic, Charles Fountain, of Wabash. The plane was parked in the Dadds addition, opposite the intersection of Union street off North Detroit street, Monday, and was here to do stunt flying at the Greene County Fair and to carry passengers.

Denison and Fountain had become acquainted with Beeghly, who is a Chesterfield cigarette salesman for the Liggett-Myers Tobacco Company, in Eaton, several days ago, and they became friends. Beeghly was formerly employed at McClellan Field, Dayton, and had made several flights. At Eaton, the men agreed to see each other in this city and here Denison invited Beeghly to go for a trip in the Mr. Beeghly left his automobile standing on East Main street and his hat in the Mullen cigar store when he went on the flight.

Many people watched the plane as it "stunted" high in the air before the fall, the pilot looping the loop and doing other "stunts." These witnesses saw the fall, when the machine apparently shot out of control and began descending rapidly to a crash, at the same time going into a tail spin.

When the machine landed, hundreds of people were on the scene immediately. Bonnie Lowe, 100 Lexington avenue, colored, and George Jamison, 412 East Third street, colored, witnessed the accident and were among the first to reach the fallen plane. They assisted the flyers from the wreckage of the plane pit, and brought them to the McClellan hospital in a truck. Both were bleeding profusely from their wounds.

Dr. Raymond McClellan and Dr. H. C. Messenger examined Beeghly, discovering the double fracture. They did not attempt to operate waiting for the man to recover from the shock. The surgeons were unable to find a fracture of Beeghly's right arm or the thumb of his left hand, although both members were swollen considerably indicating broken bones.

Mrs. Emerson Beeghly, wife of the injured man was notified of the accident as soon as possible and with the injured man's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Beeghly of Dayton, hurried to this city. They were at his bedside during Tuesday. Beeghly's mother, Mrs. D. E. Beeghly, who is in Jackson, Fla., was also notified of her son's condition. A representative of the Liggett-Myers Tobacco company came here Tuesday and took charge of his automobile.

AIRPLANE CRASHES IN XENIA INJURING TWO, BOTH WILL RECOVER

Emerson Beeghly, 23, of Dayton, Receives Fractured Skull and Pilot Lawrence Denison, 21, of Michigan, Cut About Face as Aircraft Drops.

Hopes for the recovery of Emerson Beeghly, 23, of 11 Bond street, Dayton, injured when the airplane in which he was a passenger crashed to the ground on Orchard street, in the eastern city limits at 7:45 o'clock, Monday evening, were considerably brighter, Tuesday afternoon, following an operation which he underwent at the McClellan hospital, where he has been a patient since the accident.

Beeghly received a double fracture of the skull in the forehead above each eye. Drs. B. R. and Rayburn McClellan operated on the patient at noon, Tuesday, after he had recovered from the shock sufficiently to stand the operation, and lifted the fractured bone to relieve pressure on the brain. The operation was apparently successful, the injured man rallying and appearing better. Besides the fractures he sustained two cuts near the right eye, and a perpendicular gash in the center of his forehead, and his right arm and left hand were injured, besides injuries from the shock and bruises.

Lawrence Denison, 21, of Blanchard, Michigan, pilot of the ill-fated airplane, was practically confined to his bed at the Regal Hotel, Tuesday, due mostly to the shock of the accident and a deep gash in his forehead over the left eye, that required three stitches to close. Although he was able to walk around Monday evening, the after effects of the accident, Tuesday, caused him considerable pain and discomfort and he remained in bed most of the day.

GIVE IMPETUS TO COLLEGE CAMPAIGN AT INFORMAL DINNER

The $200,000 drive which Cedarville College is about to make was given impetus on Friday evening at an informal dinner in the R. P. Church of Cedarville, at which the following Township Chairmen of Greene County were the guests:

Mr. C. A. DeVoe, Jamestown, Mr. W. W. Anderson, Xenia; Mr. William Collins, Cedarville; Mr. F. C. Hubbell, Alpha; Prof. Linn, Fairfield; Mr. Earl McCellan, Xenia; Mr. D. H. Barnes, Xenia; Mr. J. H. Finney, Xenia; Mr. William Linton, Bowesville and Mr. W. L. Clemens, Cedarville.

Mr. G. H. Hartman, a Cedarville business man, in opening the meeting, gave a brief history of the College. He spoke of its growth in the past 25 years; of the place in educational influence which it has attained, and of the necessity of the appeal to the public for $200,000. Mr. Hartman has offered a prize to the person who secures the largest amount of subscriptions to Cedarville College.

Mr. S. C. Wright was the next speaker, and he stated that he was sure the Alumni would do everything in their power to aid the institution of which they were so proud.

Needs of the College Explained
W. R. McChesney, President of the College, explained in detail the pressing need of the institution in the way of new buildings. He said there was absolute need of a new Science Hall, especially for the Chemistry Department. There was also need of a Dormitory for girls. "For the past five years," said Dr. McChesney, "upwards of three dozen girls have been refused attendance each year at Cedarville College because there was no dormitory for them. They have no real college home, and consequently not the supervision found in other colleges which parents require for their daughters, and which an Association Christian College always provides for girls."

Finally, he explained that there was great need of a gymnasium, not only for the work of the athletes, but for the general use of the students. Dr. McChesney deplored the business, moral and religious loss to the community in the event that the institution falls in the "Supreme Effort," as he characterized it—to standardize the college.

Rev. W. P. Harriman said this was the first time, to his knowledge that the College had appealed in an organized way to the public for funds. Heretofore it had managed to get along with out such an appeal, and had erected and equipped the present buildings with the aid of a few private individual subscriptions. Now, however, there was absolute need of assistance from the general public, and as Cedarville College had proved itself worthy, through its work and graduates, it had no apologies to offer in making the appeal.

Rev. V. E. Busler spoke in high terms of the method of teaching in vogue at Cedarville College and also praised the educational principles and philosophy of the faculty.

Mr. L. P. Marshall of Xenia said there was little doubt but that the drive would net more than $200,000 as the people were apparently in sympathy with the college and that the organization was about as perfect as could be made.

Others present gave brief addresses.

ESTABLISH PARK DISTRICT FOR CITY

The Chamber of Commerce of Chicago Heights of which Lewis Tingley, formerly secretary of the local Chamber is executive manager, has succeeded in bringing about a plan for a permanent park district and park commission in that city.

The park was the brain of the Chamber of Commerce and in a whirlwind campaign conducted by that body, the people voted 787 to 232 to carry out the plan recently. The movement calls for parks and playgrounds, with a park commission of unpaid people to supervise it.

FARMERS FIGHTING HIGHER RATES ON SHIPMENTS OF HOGS

Columbus, Aug. 2.—Claiming that existing freight rates are already ruinously high, Buckeye farmers, through the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, will fight the increase in freight rates of 1 to 2 cents per hundred on hogs, which were filed to become effective August 1. The petition, submitted by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation to have the revision suspended, has been granted by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and a hearing set for September 20.

Farm organization officials believe they see in the increased freight rates, the absorption of the benefits secured in the passage of the Albaugh Act, fixing the limit of minimum weight on a carload of hogs. It has been the farmers' contention that they are unable to load 17,000 pounds of hogs in a car without serious injury to the hogs and loss to the shipper. As a result, the shipper has had to pay for more weight than he could load in a car.

Because they felt they were required to pay for something they did not receive they were instrumental through their farm organizations in securing the passage of the Albaugh Law during the recent session of the Legislature. This law among other provisions made the minimum weight on a carload of hogs, 16,000 instead of 17,000 pounds.

Aid of the livestock shippers in presenting the cause is being sought. Shippers are being requested by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation to submit actual figures showing that the present minimum rates on hogs are excessive.

COURT NEWS

FIRST SUIT IS FOR DIVORCE

The first suit to be filed with the new Clerk of Courts, Harvey Elam, who went into office, Monday, was an action for divorce.

The case is that of Marie Caseldine against Herman Caseldine, the plaintiff claiming that the defendant failed to support her during their married life and especially the last four years, that he contributed nothing to her support, sends her to her parents, and tells her that if she wants anything to eat to get it from them. She says he is able bodied and earns from $20 to $25 a week.

The couple was married June 18, 1914. There are two children, Eugene, aged 6 and Milton Ellis, aged 2. The plaintiff asks for divorce, alimony and custody of the children.

Is Granted Alimony

May Ashcraft, plaintiff in a divorce action against Orvan C. Ashcraft, was granted alimony of $6 a week by Judge R. L. Gowdy in Common Pleas Court, Monday. The defendant must also pay $25 attorney fees.

Partition of Estate Granted

Partition of the estate sought in the suit brought by John M. Mullen, and others against the Union Savings Bank and Trust Company, of Cincinnati, and others, was allowed by Judge R. L. Gowdy according to an entry filed in Common Pleas Court. The entry grants partition of estate as sought for and names T. C. Long, A. W. Tresise and Charles M. Austin, commissioners to set off the various legacies. The estate is that of the late Mike Mullen, well-known Cincinnati politician, who died leaving considerable property near Bellbrook, in Greene County.

Two are Appointed

M. S. Smith was appointed administrator of the estate of Mary E. Smith, by Judge J. Carl Marshall in Probate Court Saturday. He furnished $1,000 bond. Jacob N. Smith, Charles Harness and M. R. Snodgrass were named appraisers by the Court. Joseph S. Leaming, was appointed administrator of the estate of Mary S. Leaming, and furnished $1,000 bond. Appraisers named were John Compton, Warren Morris and Jesse Hill.

As the Case is Presented, Should Judge and Jury Snooze?

WERE WE to argue "FOR EVER AND A DAY" on any subject of no importance, "JUDGE AND JURY" would be justified in snoozing, but as our subject is vitally important, and deeply concerns none so much as this "JUDGE and JURY"—THE PEOPLE OF GREENE COUNTY—we do not believe there will be any snoozing when our case is being presented.

THE "WE" in this case is Cedarville College which, functions primarily, to educate the boys and girls of our community. Whether these boys and girls are rich or poor is immaterial; ITS SERVICE IS FOR ALL. The "CASE" briefly, is this:

"Cedarville College needs an Expansion and Endowment Fund of $200,000 to enable it to secure recognition by the State Association of Colleges, and thus save it from disruption."

The Evidence Shows

First. That Cedarville's name is written large in the history of America. As an element of progress it has accomplished much good. Its record has been honorable. It has given to our country great and useful men and women. It has left its imprint upon nearly every department and activity of our national life. It has nurtured preachers, teachers, lawyers, doctors, and business men who have had an influential voice in shaping the destinies of our country. Indeed, it has blessed the nation with the light of its genius and the glow of its charity. It has stood through the years for humane, broad and liberal education. It has been, and is a grand depository for truth—the truth that makes men and women free. It has been, and is, a mother of true liberty. It has played a noble part in the sacrifice of war and in the duties of peace. A thorough knowledge of the accomplishments of its alumni would reduce these truths to the simplicity of an axiom.

BUT

Two. Notwithstanding all that has been accomplished by this beneficent and notable institution, it is not classified by the State Association of Colleges as a Standardized College. Something more must be done. It must meet at least the following requirements:

- Buildings and equipment to the value of $100,000.
- A library of not less than 10,000 volumes in addition to public documents.
- An Endowment Fund which yields an income of not less than $10,000 a year.

Three. To meet these demands it has become absolutely essential to secure, First an Expansion Fund of $100,000 with which to construct and equip a Gynasium, a Girls' Dormitory, and Science Hall, and to purchase 4,000 volumes for the library. When these buildings shall have been constructed and furnished, and the volumes shall have been added to its library, we shall have met two of the requirements.

Next, we must secure $100,000 and add them to our present Endowment Fund. This will meet the third requirement.

Fourth. Were Cedarville College to abate its efforts to obtain this Expansion and Endowment Fund it would be a party to a conspiracy against its own, and society's best interests.

Fifth. Those charged with the direction of its affairs are asking the people to contribute to its enlargement and more thorough equipment for the sole purpose of securing the advantages accruing to the people through an Association College.

Sixth. Witness some of the advantages:—It would mean the expenditure in Cedarville and community of such large sums of money every year, that every line of business would prosper. It would attract to Cedarville and its surrounding territory a most desirable class of residents; it would very materially increase the value of all real estate; it would give the community prestige and standing as an educational center of note, and all in all it would have an uplifting influence upon every city, village and hamlet in the community.

As to the duty of the College Officials under these circumstances there is no argument. Into their hands has been given the sacred duty of improving the College and passing it on to succeeding generations, strengthened to enable it to serve them even better than it has served us. In this duty they SHOULD NOT fail; they MUST NOT fail; They CANNOT fail and escape deserved censure. But the cost of fulfilling this duty cannot be met by the present revenues of the Institution.

Therefore Unless

The fund of $200,000 is pledged on or before the 3rd day of September, 1921, the service of Cedarville College will cease. Cedarville College will be LOST to Cedarville and Greene county FOREVER. Thousands will be denied its blessings. Countless young men and women will be deprived of its educational facilities; the standard of the grade and high schools in Cedarville and adjacent towns will deteriorate, ALL OF WHICH WOULD MEAN A REPETITION IN THIS COMMUNITY OF WHAT HAS HAPPENED IN OTHERS WHERE THE PEOPLE HAVE FAILED TO STANDARDIZE THEIR EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS, NAMELY, THE PARALYZING OF BUSINESS, THE BLASTING OF AMBITION AND HOPE, AND IN GENERAL, THE STIFLING OF DEVELOPMENT.

What A Grave Mistake

that would be. "THE CASE IS YOURS." "THE COLLEGE IS YOURS." ITS SERVICE IS YOURS." Its future value to Cedarville, Greene County, and the State will be measured by your contribution—the VERDICT you render. WHAT WILL THAT VERDICT BE?

The situation deserves your most careful attention, wise action and liberal financial assistance. WHAT IS YOUR VERDICT?

HARDING ARRIVES IN MAINE PORT

Portland, Maine, Aug. 2.—President Harding and his party docked here at 10:30 a. m. standard time, today, having made the run from Plymouth in a little more than eleven hours.

Hordes of Portlanders had gathered along the main thoroughfares to greet the chief executive who was scheduled to make a brief speech at the public square before leaving in a motor car for the 165 miles run to Secretary Weeks' summer home at Lancaster, New Hampshire. The party will lunch at Crawford Notch.

DINNER STORIES

Judge Henderson claims that the oldest joke is the one about the Irishman who was in a brown study on the street. Another Irishman met him and said:

"Well, Pat," said Mike, "my wife told me to get her something for dinner and for the life of me I can't remember what it was I was to get."

"Oh, cheer up," said Pat; "here, have a cigar, maybe you can recover your memory while you smoke."

Mike lit the cigar and puffed it. After a few whiffs Mike brightened up and said: "You are right, Pat. That cigar made me think what the wife wanted. The wife wanted cabbage."

The sanitary inspector knocked sharply at the door and it soon opened.

"How many people live here?" he began.

"Nobody lives here," answered the daughter of the house; "we're only staying for a short time."

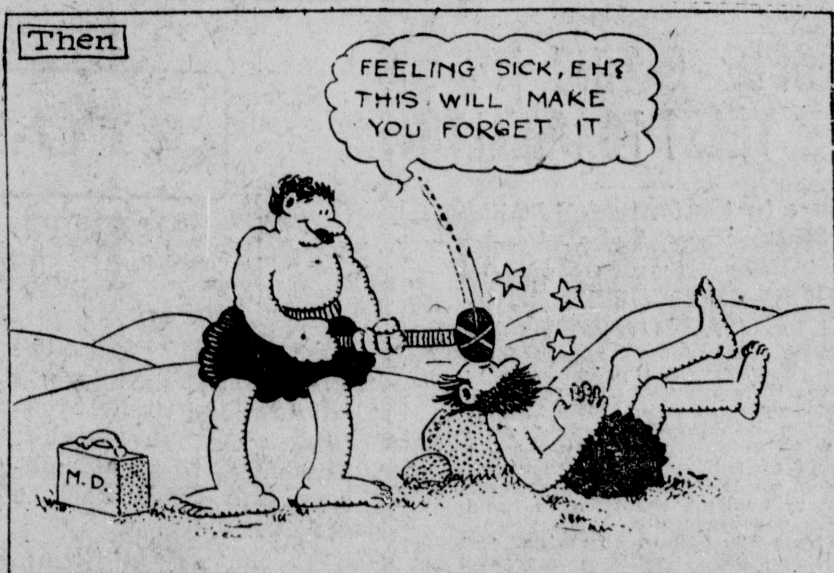

"But how many are here?" "I'm here. Father's gone for a walk and mother is—"

"Stop, stop!" exclaimed the man impatiently. "I want to know how many inmates are in this house. How many people slept here last night?"

"Well, you see," was the reply, "I had the toothache dreadful and my little brother had the stomach ache and we all took on so much that nobody slept a wink."

Then the inspector said he would call again.

YOUNGSTERS FROLIC UNDER WATER FROM XENIA FIRE HOSE

Splash, splash and some more splashes! Forty-three Xenia kiddies splashed themselves cool under the showers formed by two lines of fire hose thrown in the air over the Court House lawn Monday night.

It was the inauguration of the 1921 of shower baths for kiddies during the hot period, and despite the rather cool weather which greeted the opening shower, the popularity with which the idea was met insured that it will be repeated.

Hundreds of people lined the Court House square to watch the kiddies scamper in the cool water thrown by the firemen. Automobiles drove up full of kids who leaped out into the cooling water. Mothers, it was 62 covered had been buying or making bathing suits for their children since the shower bath scheme was announced.

Although there will not be a shower, Tuesday night, more will be held in the future, and the plan of having them in the afternoon is being considered, according to L. F. Clevenger who devised the scheme of cooling off the kids. Mr. Clevenger suggested the plan and the city and county officials readily fell into the same line of thought, with the result that Xenia copied after bigger cities in providing cool bath's for the kids. More will be announced later, it was said Tuesday.

MEN ACCUSED OF WRECKING TRAIN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2.—With one of the most disastrous railroad wrecks and collisions in recent years averted narrowly, two men were under arrest today on suspicion of having wrecked the 12:45 west-bound Michigan Central Pullman train at Keweenaw.

Railroad detectives and police found that "fish-plates" binding together the tracks, had been removed at the spot where the engine derailed.

The men arrested are Martin Yesski, 39, and Alexander Schultz, 24, both of Dearborn. They were unable to give a satisfactory account of their movements. The round-house, located about a mile from the scene of the wreck had been broken into and tools stolen from it with which to wreck the train, officials stated. The tools were found within a few feet of the derailment.

The crew of the train had no warning of the danger ahead, as signal wires connecting the rails were not broken and the signal lights were left burning.

ILLEGAL FISHING NETS CAPTURED BY GAME WARDEN

Big nets and little nets, and large and small seines, all of them in violation of the laws laid down and enforced by the state department and fish game.

This was the queer automobile load brought to this city, Tuesday, by Game Protector Clevenger, of Warren County. All of the nets and seines had been captured by Clevenger from fishermen who were haled into court and fined for their violations of the law. Nets from 32 feet to two feet in length were in the load which Clevenger had here while on his way to Columbus, Tuesday morning.

Among recent fishermen caught by Clevenger for violating the law was Mayor Ayres of Wilmington. A few days later the mayor, in the opportunity to it in judgment in the mayor's court on Lester Ball and Raymond Reeves both of this city who were accused of using illegal seines. They were fined $25 and costs apiece.

Game Wardens are required to preserve such illegal devices and turn them over to the state department and Clevenger was on his way to Columbus to deliver the spoils to Chief Baxter of that bureau, Tuesday morning.

WEEKLY REPORT ON CROP CONDITIONS

By C. J. West, Agricultural Statistician.

Corn prospects are very low in all sections of the State which had heavy rains in May and early June and which have not received rain in any amount since, according to reports received from correspondents by C. J. West, Agricultural Statistician.

ROCKEFELLER AIDS PROJECT OF D. A. R.

Delaware, Ohio, August 2.—A contribution by John D. Rockefeller has permitted the Daughters of the American Revolution to realize their ambition to save the birthplace here of former President Rutherford B. Hayes, for a memorial.

Contributions totalling $4,260 had been raised for the purpose of buying the property from the Standard Oil Company which had purchased it for $8,000 as a site for a gasoline filling station.

The amount of Rockefeller's contribution was not disclosed.

All other contributions are to be returned.

VICTIMS OF AUTO ACCIDENT RECOVERING

Springfield, Aug. 2.—Miss Hazel Fenimore, of Springfield, who was seriously injured when a machine driven by Judge Golden C. Davis, and in which Miss Lulu Cunningham of Yellow Springs, and several other persons were occupants overturned in a ditch near New Carlisle, Sunday night, is reported improving, Monday.

The condition of Judge Davis is reported unchanged and he is thought to be resting easier. Other occupants of the machine were Miss Lillian Dilts, of Springfield, William Oates, also of Springfield, O. A. Martin of Chicago and Miss Cunningham.

Many fields will be a total failure and all fields have been seriously injured. The Hocking Valley and some of the Northern and Western counties have been liberally supplied with rain with the result that prospects are from fair to good.

In Paulding, Van Wert, Putnam, Greene, Fayette, Pickaway, Clinton and other counties of the Western and Central parts of the State, corn is tasseling out at a height of from three to five foot lower than is usual. The early corn cannot ear without rain. It is possible however, for much of the late corn and for some of the early planted corn to ear better than present appearances indicate provided the rainfall is ample during the next few weeks.

The rains of the last six weeks in Ohio have been local in character so that comparatively narrow sections in Williams, Fulton, Henry and other counties of the Northwestern part of the State show good corn prospects while within a few miles distance corn is suffering from the drought. Fairfield, Hocking, Morgan and some other Southeastern counties show good prospects for corn and the same is true of some Northwestern counties.

Reports are general of a failure in the oats crop throughout the State. The hot dry weather following the earlier heavy rains apparently accounts for the poor yields and low quality of the grain. Weights of 18 to 22 pounds per measured bushel are common. Many fields are not worth cutting though but few have not been cut. Yields run from 10 to 30 bushels per acre with very rarely a report of 40 bushels.

General. The outstanding feature of the week has been the continued dry weather which is rapidly cutting down the prospects for all crops.

Corn. Corn is tasseling out three to five feet shorter than usual. Very seriously injured by drought in most sections of the State.

Oats. Oats threshing out very poor quality and from one-fourth to one half of the usual yield per acre.

Wheat. Threshing is well along and yields are poor.

C. J. WEST, Agricultural Statistician.

INCIDENTS OF THE VISIT OF THE NAPOLEON OF THE ENGLISH PRESS.

Viscount Northcliffe's feud with the Lloyd George Government has been transferred to Washington with sensational suddenness. The London newspaper magnate, who arrived in Washington from New York Friday on a two days' visit has been denied the hospitality of the British Embassy. Not only was an invitation to him to stay there while in Washington abruptly withdrawn, but a dinner which was to have been given at the embassy in his honor was summarily canceled.

Statements issued at the embassy are to the effect that any action in connection with Lord Northcliffe has been taken on the personal responsibility of the Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes. There are strong indications however, that the London Times actually was instigated by the British Foreign Office and that the Ambassador reluctantly was required to obey imperative orders from Downing street. The Times had vigorously opposed either Lloyd George or Sir Auckland Geddes as delegates to the Disarmament Convention.

However Northcliffe was consoled by the fact that he was invited to a dinner at the home of Mrs. Edward B. McLean, at which all of those originally invited to the British Embassy dinner are to be present. Mr. McLean is owner of the Cincinnati Enquirer, son of John R. McLean deceased.

Lord Northcliffe's call at the White House was notable mainly for its length. Never since Mr. Harding became President has so long a time been allotted to an individual visitor. Lord Northcliffe says they talked "shop" exclusively—a meeting of congenial spirits with a mutual affinity, namely, printer's ink. The distinguished Britisher was deeply impressed with the President. He found him "conspicuously handsome," and in every way a striking and agreeable personality. Mr. Harding's account of his early struggles as a newspaper proprietor made a particular appeal to Lord Northcliffe's imagination. The proprietor of the London Times if the owner of the Marion Star has no objections is anxious to write a "story" about the birth and rise of that famous little Ohio journal.

Efforts to draw Lord Northcliffe as to the topics, outside of newspaperdom that he had discussed with the President were in vain.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE THINKS WE AMERICANS ARE TOO PESSIMISTIC

(By B. C. Forbes.)

I have just had a talk with one of the most successful business men in the world and what he says will interest every American.

Some forty years ago an humble Scotch-Irish lad started to work in London without influential friends, without capital and with no superior educational equipment.

Today he controls more than a hundred publications, including the most famous journal in the world, the London Times. He has climbed to a high place in the British peerage. His influence is incomparatively greater than that of any other private citizen in Britain, perhaps in the world. And of course, he has attained great wealth.

I refer to Viscount Northcliffe.

"I am astonished and disappointed to find so much pessimism, so much uneasiness, so much nervousness, one might say among business men I have met here," he remarked in the course of a chat. "When a lot of American business men were over in England, not long ago, they were very much impressed with the calmness they found everywhere. We were then in the midst of the coal strike and industry was, of course, badly dislocated. Yet, there was no excitement, no demoralization among our business men. They had calm confidence that things would eventually right themselves."

"In America you certainly have far more reason for feeling calm and confident. You have between a third and a half of all the gold in the world, and more is coming to you all the time. Your bank reserves are very high in comparison with the Bank of England's reserve. Yet business, I understand is charged very much more for the use of money here than in London. Considering the conditions in both countries it isn't easy to understand why there should be so much hesitancy, diffidence and nervousness here."

Health Talks

By John B. Huber, AMMD

PHthisis AND THE GOOD SAMARITAN

I felt rather blue when I received the letter which I reproduced in this column asking why "those consumptives" should be permitted at large. It seemed to me a melancholy thing that after all the teaching of the public regarding the nature of this disease, there should be people who would manifest so little consideration toward sufferers from so cruel a disease. It appeared to me that all our medical teaching has been in vain.

I shall never forget how some 20 years ago, when doctors were in the habit of sending their tuberculous patients out West for their cure, I made arrangements for the admission into a far Western sanitarium for one of my consumptive patients—a young lady of splendid intellect, great charm, kindly and withal of a most sensitive nature. Although almost six feet tall, she weighed but 96 pounds when she left New York. Her means having been of the very slightest, she had been obliged to travel as cheaply as possible and she reached the far West just as her destination late in the third afternoon of her journey.

The first thing she did was to go to a "home" maintained by a religious body where she asked to stay just one night, until she could finish her wandering to her permanent resting place in the morning. The Christians who maintained this "Home" would not take her in. It was their rule to refuse consumptives, even for a night and with the name of the gentle over their entrance door, they turned her away.

Doctors know there was no occasion for so inhuman a procedure. Any clergyman could have opened his Bible in his pulpit at the entrance about the Good Samaritan and with a little knowledge gained from his family doctor could have explained to his congregation how my traveler patient, sick unto death as she was, could with safety to all have expected a shelter until the morning at least, I have myself, by invitations of clergymen, explained all this in their pulpits.

Upon a purely practical basis, there is no reason why, with such elementary knowledge as I have constantly been handing out in this column, this institution could not have provided shelter for my patient, without in the least jeopardizing the constitution of any other person. We should now know that if the proper disposition is made of the consumptive's sputum, there is no danger of infection to others. The progress of the human race is never furthered, indeed it most deprecably retarded, whenever the stigma of inhumanity is fastened upon religion.

THERE ARE TIMES WHEN NATURE SEEMS PARTICULARLY UNFAIR IN HER DISTRIBUTION OF BLESSINGS.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

Mr. Harry E. Kiernan, assistant foreman at the Gazette office, is taking his vacation, this week, and will make glad the people at the Greene County Fair, and fill his pockets with silver shekels by dispensing hot sausages, etc.

Officer William McCallister, who has been recuperating at Mt. Clemens, Mich., has returned home feeling much improved by his sojourn there. He expects to be back on duty on the police force within a day or two.

Miss Julia Schweibold, the pleasant young lady who assists in the duties as clerk at the store of Jobe Brothers and Company, will be missed by her friends from behind the counter for a couple of weeks, having entered upon her vacation today, and is spending the time on Easy Street.

Mr. Robert A. Kelbie, the tailor, has disposed of his residence on West Main Street.

AN EDITORIAL
ON BEING

The United States is going through a period of adjustment of living costs and commodity prices.

Readjustment and uncertainty always have been inseparable companions. The present condition of business was to be expected and is, in a sense, entirely normal.

But it is not necessary that present conditions be continued. It is possible to enter a period of prosperity just as quickly as the people of this country will it.

Here are the plain facts—and they point your duty to yourself clearly and unmistakably.

Merchants in every line of business must accept their inevitable losses due to the drop in raw material prices of their present stocks in accordance with the cost of replacing those stocks today. They must tell the public that this has been done.

And merchants are amply able to do this. Some have already done it.

For the continuation of business it is necessary that manufacturers have orders. The merchant must place those orders now. It is amply proven that further depression of prices in many raw material markets will be wholly artificial. It is not to the advantage of the country that such depression shall take place.

The time to buy confidently has come.

Manufacturers have a right to expect that the merchants will look forward to the future of business with courage and confidence. They need orders; they should have them at once.

Manufacturers owe it to the public to keep their plants in operation so that unemployment may not exist. If there is reduction in work there will be a corresponding reduction in buying power. It is idle to urge the public to buy merchandise while at the same time taking away from the public the power to do so.

And (as every study of conditions proves) this country is sound financially, industrially and agriculturally. This is no time for a general policy of drastic retrenchment and cessation of production.

Demoralized by the return of a buyer's market, many manufacturers—and especially their sales forces—have lost their power to compete. Softened by three years of unprecedented ease of selling, the old vigor and fighting power which enabled them to do business under far more difficult conditions years ago are no longer theirs.

The public must close its ears to idle rumors pessimistic talk and unfounded accusations. All of this is unjustified. The industrial fabric of the country—both manufacturers and merchants—is sound and it is honest.

The man or woman who idly spreads talk of "business depression" is a traitor to his or her own business interests. Such talk needs distrust and suspicion.

And the public second, must now exert its immense daily buying power. It must not put off from week to week and from month to month the buying of necessities in the hope that prices will fall still further. It must patronize the many stores which have shown a disposition to lower prices to meet the new condition, and take the stocks off their shelves.

If you have been deferring the purchasing of any necessities or commoner luxuries, contribute your share to the general public welfare by making the purchase at once.

In so doing you safeguard the prosperity of the business you have founded, the firm which employs you, or the profession which is your livelihood.

The wealth of the United States today is greater than the wealth of all other nations of the world combined.

What is there to fear?

Only the shadow of suspicion, created out of our own minds. Only the individual selfishness which dictates hoarding—wearing the dark glasses of pessimism in order that we may not see the sun of prosperity.

If every man and woman in the United States will resume to-day the optimistic outlook and the optimistic talk which the situation justifies and will then follow such an attitude to its logical conclusion by buying daily such merchandise as the family needs dictate, there will be no further stagnation of business—no unemployment—and, last, no artificial interference with the steady, gradual and safe return of a lowered cost of living.

SAY WATER IMPURE

Cincinnati, Aug. 2.—Specialists say that the epidemic of eye and nose disease suffered by swimmers in this vicinity is caused by impure water in rivers and bathing pools, due to the hot dry weather.

DROPS DEAD AT FUNERAL

Milford, Ohio, Aug. 2.—Mrs. Sarah Shoe, 65, dropped dead yesterday while attending the funeral services for her mother, Mrs. Jane Pierce, 85, at Modest, near here. Heart failure due to grief caused the daughter's death.

PAID FANCY PRICES

"I paid an international authority on diseases of the stomach $1,500 and he didn't do me five cents' worth of good. I have been to various spas in Europe, as well as this country and have spent fully $30,000 fruitlessly in search of a cure for my stomach trouble. Naturally I lost faith in any remedy for my case. My wife's brother had taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and praised it so highly that I tried it and am now entirely rid of that trouble. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. TOO MUCH TALK.

With all the news I keep in touch and I'm forever reading of delegates who talk too much, whose tongues are always speeding. And some are men of high estate, and some obscure and humble; and when they're called on to orate, like busy bees they humble. They see a large, attentive crew, to hear their spiel collected, and they tell all they ever knew, and all they e'er suspected. Warmed by grape juice or lemon pop, they set the language flowing where they're going. And when the ghastly morning breaks they get the daily papers and read, with many piebald aches, the story of their capers. When they behold their words in print, they know they left their bases and sweat, of deep magenta tint, rolls down their furrowed faces. And then in cold despair they rise and frame excuses neatly: "The blamed reporters, blank their eyes, misquoted us completely." But none believes this tawdry rish, none likes the whining groaner, and stale excuses will not wash when one has pulled a boner. Man would such dire disaster dodge if he would can the spiling, and send the long hours in his lodge, and knock flies off the ceiling.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Mrs. E. I.—All hair dyes injure the quality of the hair. Some hair is so strong that it does not show the deterioration for a long time. Henna is not a dye and will produce an auburn shade. If you think that will be becoming you will also find it a tonic and you can do it yourself but if you feel you must have your hair dyed, go to someone in the profession to have it done.

R. S. Olive oil is excellent for gaining weight. You can obtain the formula by consulting the files in the office of the newspaper.

March—Your weight is correct and your figure will improve as you complete your growth.

Hazel and R. C.—Curling the hair over anything that is not harsh or heated cannot injure it. Hair on the face can be pulled out by using the tweezers, or destroyed by electric needle treatment.

Rose R.—You are 20 pounds underweight. Your hair is beautiful, why should you want to change even the shade? You have an opportunity for color combination which will individualize your type. If you try to darken your hair you will lose this chance, making yourself look like everybody else.

Mayfair—There is an operation for straightening the legs, but no one would undertake it unless it were for professional reasons. Wear your skirts longer and hide the defect.

Kate—You should consult the doctor about your skin. Wear a hair net, which will flatten the wavy hair, so it will be more becoming.

Tiny—Warts will dry and drop off, if a clean, white silk thread is placed around the base of each one. Anxious Betty.—The preparation you mention is a purgative and the effect upon the skin is temporary. Clear the skin by simplifying the diet or taking three yeast cakes each day.

Unemployed.—To one ounce of powdered Egyptian henna, add three ounces of powdered castile soap. One tablespoonful of this mixture to a pint of hot water will make a shampoo. Lather it on the head, and allow it to remain from ten to 20 minutes, as you may need to produce the shade. Proceed as in any shampoo.

J. C.—Styes are caused by a run down condition of the blood. Consult your doctor.

Smiles—Massage the ankles with a strong solution of Epsom salts or sea salt.

A. G. B.—The cornstarch in the blackhead formula is the same as that used in cooking.

Trouble.—Cancer is a malignant growth and you had nothing to do with your friend developing it. She probably was in such poor health that she worried because of that and not what you said to her. Do not accuse yourself ever again and if the memory of it should trouble you, you can counteract it by performing a kind act for someone else.

High School Girls.—If your mother approves of the boys there is no reason why you should not go to a matinee with them. Of course she should know all about it.

Massage our scalp each night, until you feel the blood circulating and this will create a healthy condition.

FAMOUS SINGER SUCCUMBS TO AN ATTACK TUESDAY

Opera Company in New York next winter.

Word of Caruso's death was immediately cabled to friends in New York by Mrs. Caruso and a few hours later cablegrams of condolence began arriving. No arrangements have been made for the funeral but it is believed that he will be buried near his old home in Italy.

Not only music lovers but persons prominent in many other walks of life felt the blow of Caruso's death. This was shown from the numbers of cablegrams that continued to pour in this afternoon. They came from business men and financiers as well as from opera stars. The music world of the entire globe was cast into gloom.

Caruso before his final illness, had been living quietly in his villa at Sorrento with Mrs. Caruso and his baby daughter Gloria.

He was under orders from his specialists to engage in no arduous activities that would tax his strength and he spent much of his time in his garden or motoring along the beautiful Italian highways. He kept in close touch with friends in New York and kept them informed of his progress back to normal health. His chief delight was playing with his little daughter Gloria, who was his pet and the apple of his eye.

Mrs. Caruso felt the blow of her husband's death keenly. She wept as she recounted to friends the trials and troubles that her husband had passed through during the past year and a half. Caruso and his wife were a most devoted couple and during their stay at Sorrento were inseparable. It is understood Mrs. Caruso will return to America after her husband's burial.

Enrico Caruso, the greatest tenor of modern times, if not of all times, was born at Naples, Italy, February 25, 1873, the son of a mechanic. Like many an American statesman and captain of industry, was a self-made success in his profession. His father wanted to train him as a mechanic, but young Enrico rebelled at the idea. The circumstances of the Caruso family at that time were reduced to such straits, however, that Enrico agreed to work six days a week in his father's little shop on condition that he be allowed to sing in the local church on Sunday. Even at his work Caruso never ceased to practice, and the golden notes that later brought him wealth and fame were often heard amidst the clanging of the hammer and anvil.

For three years Caruso studied under Guglielmo Vergino and he had no hesitancy in admitting at the height of his career that this great teacher entertained but slight hopes of his future success. He admitted that Enrico had a beautiful voice but thought it lacked power.

Caruso made his professional debut at the Nuovo Theatre in his native city in 1894, and it said that his "fee" for the performance was a pair of shoes, a pair of tights, a neckerchief and small sum of money. From this modest beginning he rose to the head of his profession, where he could command $10,000 for a night's song. Caruso is said to have appeared 550 times in the last sixteen years of his active career. In one season of this time—1907-1908 he sang fifty-one times. His record for twenty-six years is one of almost incessant activity on the opera and concert stage. No artist ever subjected his vocal organs to such keen prolonged strain and none had ever attempted feats anything like it and emerged with his vocal powers unimpaired.

Following his debut in Italy Caruso sang for ten years in that country, Russia, France, England, Germany, Spain and Portugal before coming to the United States. In 1903, while singing at Lisbon, he was offered $700 a night to come to New York for the season by Maurice Grau, impresario of the Metropolitan Opera Company. In the course of the negotiations Grau became ill. Heinrich Conried, who succeeded Grau, raised the offer to $1,000 a night for fifty performances and Caruso made his first appearance at the Metropolitan Opera House on November 23, 1903. American musical critics did not take kindly to the Italian and gave him but a lukewarm reception. Later on the criticism turned to friendly channels and Caruso was lauded as the foremost tenor in the world. Shortly after his first Metropolitan triumph Caruso was arrested on a charge of annoying a woman in the "monkey house" at the Central Park Zoo, but the charge was never pressed.

In 1918 the tenor surprised society by marrying Miss Dorothy Park Benjamin.

Last summer, while Caruso was singing in Havana, his country home at Southampton, Long Island, was robbed of nearly half a million dollars worth of jewels. This was only one of a long series of misfortunes that befell the singer during the year of 1920. Caruso said he did not mind losing the jewels so long as his voice did not go back on him, because "he could always buy more jewels with his voice." His friends said that he labored constantly in later years under the fear that he would lose his voice.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM OF XENIA BIBLE CONFERENCE HERE

An unusual array of prominent speakers will appear on the program of the Xenia Christian Workers' Conference which opens here August 7, for one week. Among those who are scheduled for addresses are Hon. S. D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, President W. O. Thompson, of the Ohio State University, at Columbus, and Dr. William Edgar Gell.

The sessions of the conference will be held at the First Methodist Church. The committee in charge announces the following regulations: The meetings will be held daily according to Daylight Saving time. Season tickets may be procured at $1.50. Single admission will be 25 cents, daily tickets 35 cents, guarantors' tickets, subscribed for one year ago may be had for $1.00 while they last.

The program will open Sunday, August 7 at 3 o'clock, with a Bible hour, conducted by Dr. C. L. Goodell. At 7:30 vespers will be led by Dr. C. L. Goodell.

During the remainder of the week sessions will start at 2 p. m. with a children's hour under the direction of Mrs. J. P. White, who will have charge of the meeting every day at the same time. While this is going on, Mrs. John Ferguson will conduct a series of discussions on missions, daily.

The Bible hour will be held from 3 to 4 every day and will be in charge of Dr. R. M. Russell, following which the Sabbath School will occupy the next hour and will be in charge of Rev. W. W. McCall. From 7:30 to 8:30, daily, vesper services will be led by Dr. A. W. Blackwood.

The evening addresses, which will be called at 8:30 offer special attractions according to those in charge of the conference. Monday evening, Dr. R. M. Russell will appear on the program; Tuesday and Wednesday evening, Dr. J. R. Harris; Thursday, Rev. W. M. Work; Friday, Dr. William Edgar Gell; Saturday, Hon. S. D. Fess.

Sunday, August 14, Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University, will conduct the Bible hour at 3 o'clock, and will appear on the evening program with an address, following vesper services.

EDWARD J. LAMB DIES IN DAYTON

Mr. Lamb went to Dayton about 25 years ago from Osborn, where he had been farming and he continued to operate a farm until a few years ago, when he retired. He is survived by his wife, Harriet, three sons, James of Vermont avenue, Dayton; William LeRoy of West Alexandria and Harry, who is in the U. S. Navy and three daughters, Gertrude, Kathryn and Alice, all of Dayton. Funeral services will be held, Wednesday, at 2 o'clock at the residence and burial will be made at Willow view Cemetery.

Today's Talk by George Matthew Adams

EXPRESSION

The greatest thing in life is expression.

There is the stem that greens, and leaves, then there is the bud, and finally, little by little, the matchless dress of the rose!

He who does not express rusts and decays.

And only as you are able to enter upon the work of your day with heart and enthusiasm, are you able to express honestly. Not to express is to starve your soul—which is a far worse starvation than that which comes from lack of food.

If you would unfold naturally, if you would develop—keep expressing. No matter how imperfectly.

I would much rather have a hand-made book than one produced by machinery. For there would be in the one all the beauty and love of expression. There is a fascination about an original painting. You see the very tracks of the skilled fingers of the artist and you see the whole years of growth about the carefully placed paint, Expression!

Much of our little lives are shrouded in darkness—no matter how good our eyes may be. But as we scrape away at the thick walls of our hidden selves, we break into the light.

Take time to think. Take time to play. Then you will have plenty of time in which to work.

God was very far seeing. He placed interests sufficient in the world for all—for all time. So that expression might not die.

Each year finds us all just a little further on. The sum total of all expression is on the upward stride.

Express and you will grow. Express and you will find out where happiness comes from. Express and you will continually work for more time in which to work. Nothing stimulates and spurs like expression.

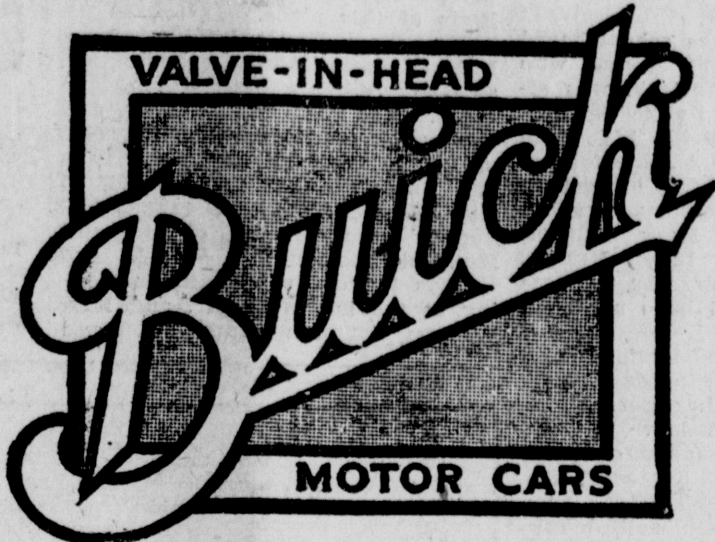

The more you express, the better this world is sure to look to you!

PECK'S BAD BOY TO OPEN SEASON

"Peck's Bad Boy" will furnish the opening seasonal attraction at the Xenia Opera House, playing here next Monday night, August 8, through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

Like "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and other of the old favorites "Peck's Bad Boy" has withstood the test of time, and appearing each year with new music and new lines, still offers one of the most interesting attractions of the season.

Jimmie Cressler is the Bad Boy, and he will be here with his chum, his girl, his Ma and Pa, the old grocer Schulz, on whom he played so many tricks, and all the old familiar characters.

Announcing The New Buick "Four"

*A Thoroughbred Four, Completing
the Famed Buick Line*

The new Four-Cylinder Buick, here announced, is a thoroughbred—a pedigreed car well worthy of its name.

Down to the very last detail, this new model possesses every quality of enduring serviceability, complete comfort, and distinctive appearance that have always characterized Buick automobiles.

The advent of this new Four makes the Buick 1922 line complete. It offers to purchasers of a car of this size all the quality and service that go to make up the name "Buick."

The engine, of course, is of the time-tested Buick Valve-in-Head type. The year-after-year concentration of Buick's engineering skill and experience in building Valve-in-Head motors assures the highest standard of performance obtainable today.

Every other unit is of a quality equal to the power plant. The whole assembly constitutes a perfectly balanced chassis which is of typical Buick construction. The equipment of Cord Tires is merely evidence of the quality which characterizes the entire car.

Two open and two closed body types mounted on the Buick built chassis comprise the new series.

Even the most casual inspection of the details of design and workmanship will reveal that full measure of quality which motorists have learned to associate with Buick.

Obviously a high grade automobile—a genuine Buick production—the prices listed below make this great Four even greater. A value such as this is possible only because of the combination of Buick engineering skill devoted to the one ideal of quality, Buick production facilities developed over nearly a quarter of a century, and Buick's nation-wide distribution and service organization.

The Buick Motor Company is proud of the Buick Four. It has the faith of long experience in this newest addition to its line. It places upon it unreservedly the Buick guarantee carried by every Buick automobile produced. That its confidence is well placed is manifested not only by the keen interest with which motorists have awaited this announcement, but also the advance orders placed by distributors, dealers, and the general public.

—We Remind you of Our Drop in Paint Prices

One year ago a gallon of Du Pont Paint cost $5.25. Today it costs $3.60, a one third cut. In painting the average house this means a saving of from $12 to $18 in paint alone.

In using Du Pont Paint you have the assurance of using the best paint sold in this locality. Dozens of Greene county's best homes have been painted with Du Pont Paint, some painted 8 years ago and still in good condition.

Come in and let us advise you on your paint needs. You are under no obligations to buy.

MANY CITIES WILL USE FESTIVAL PLANS TO BE GIVEN HERE

The Festival Production Company of Chillicothe, which will have charge of the Festival to be given here the last of August and first of September began its career at Lancaster, Monday.

The company was recently organized by F. C. Secrest, Edward Seig-fried and Frank Aid, who claim that their way of putting on Festivals is entirely new. Experiments conducted last year with combined Festivals proved to the men in the Company that the plan of combined Festivals makes for bigger and better affairs and more successful production and satisfaction to the townspeople, than to have each city stage its own celebration.

The company sends out a train of ten carloads of material, featuring four riding devices, a carousel, ferris wheel, Niagara Falls, whip, dancing platform and an auto pavilion for auto shows. Included in the special features carried by the Company are the Dog and Pony Circus, the Marvelous
Mills high wire act, a Society Dancing Team, and Prof. Candier, an accomplished Punch and Judy man. The Company proposed to elevate the standard of Festivals and to abate the undesirable features of the old time carnival. They are also planning to get an accomplished woman to conduct a story hour for kiddies in each city during the Festival so that parents attending can be relieved of care of their children and at the same time have them under refining and educational influences.

The company furnishes booths, electric lights, police protection, free shows, and absolute supervision, and after the Festival has been moved it cleans up the city, taking all of the responsibility off the shoulders of citizens. All it gets in return is the rent of booth space, at $2 a foot, for which many Xenia merchants have already signed up.

The itinerary of the Production Company's festivals, starting this week, includes Fostoria, next week,
New Philadelphia, the week following, Sidney, the week following that,
then Xenia, Greenfield, Washington,
C. H., Athens, Middleport and Cambridge, winding up at Cambridge Oct.
3 to 8.

GETS OFFER WITH THREE I. LEAGUE

Harold Little, of Yellow Springs, pitcher for the Yellow Springs Athletics, is considering an offer to pitch for Bloomington, Ill., in the Three-I League.

The offer was advanced by Joe Dunn of Springfield, manager of the Bloomington team and former manager of the Springfield Reapers, who knows the merits of the Yellow Springs Athlete in the box.

Little is a graduate of Antioch College, where he starred both on the diamond and on the basketball court.
Besides being a pitcher of merit, he is a valuable utility man, as he is a first class catcher and also catches frequently in the gardens, as he is successful with the ash. Whether he will sign a Bloomington contract later this summer or not, he has not yet decided.

were killed here today when a limousine in which they were touring turned turtle on the Lincoln highway between Franklin Park and Ten Mile Run.

Miss Della E. Mooney was instantly killed and Mrs. Edward Pierson died in the Middlesex hospital here. Mr. Pierson and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stiglitz who were in the car were only slightly injured.

The limousine, travelling at a high rate of speed skidded on a curve and turned completely over.
The party was returning from a

Freedom From Fear Of Overheating

Tuesday Health Talk No. 48.

By G. C. DONOHOO, D. C. Ph. C.

Thermic Fever is the technical name for sunstroke. It means the inability of the body to adjust itself to any temperature. Some are never in danger of overheating. Others are never out of danger.

Adapting the body to greater heat is a matter of elimination of heat through the skin and the condition of the skin is due principally to the activity of the kidneys. A displacement of spinal joints causing pressure on spinal nerves to the kidneys is alone enough to cause overheating. When by chiropractic spinal adjustments the spinal nerves to the kidneys are freed there is little danger of overheating.

TROUBLED FOR 20 YEARS.

"I easily overheated and at intervals would have stinging pains in my abdomen. This started twenty years ago and for several years increased in frequency. Then it became pronounced kidney trouble with pain and soreness which I thought was a growing cancer. Chiropractic spinal adjustments have removed the trouble. Every bit of the pain and soreness has gone. Chiropractic is an untold blessing."—Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1273H.

ANTI-GLARE LENS WHICH COMPLY WITH LAW ANNOUNCED

Columbus, Aug. 2.—Car owners may go ahead now and equip their automobile headlights to comply with the new Pence anti-glare law following the approval by State Highway Commissioner Leon C. Herrick of 26 types which the state experiment station found would do away with headlight glare. All Ohio owned autos must be equipped with one of the approved devices by August 16, or be subject to a fine of from $25 to $100.

Headlight devices which may be used by Ohio motorists are: The Sun-Ray Lens, Violet Ray Lens, Amco Deflector, Culver Radio, Crescent Glare Shield, Wilson Lens, Eureka, Gord (green visor) Holophane No. 1, Shaler Roadlighter, The "Aqua" Lens, Roxite, Raydco, Patterson Lens, Ozark, Osgood Long Distance Lens, North Star Glare Shield, National, McKee, MacBeth Liberty Lens, Lee Knight Lens, Legatite, Kopp's Lens, Klear Lens Vizion and Kilglatre Lens.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR WATER SUPPLY ON

Greenfield, August 2.—This city is considering the erection of an additional water tower as one of the improvements in the town's water supply system, and if present plans are carried out the tower will be located directly west of the present standpipe and will be of 250,000 gallons capacity. It is to be placed on a tower 100 feet in height.

In addition to the laying of certain east iron main, the committee also recommends the following:

Improvements at the existing pumping station to include duplicate centrifugal pumps of 700 gal. per min. capacity each direct connected to 10 h. p. motors, taking suction out of the existing supply well and discharging into a 25,000 gal. reservoir, to which the high service pumps are to be connected and from which water will be pumped into the village mains.

It is estimated by the engineer that the cost of the improvements as above set forth is $49,850.

ROAD MAP SHOWS FEW DETOURS NOW

Washington, C. H. Aug. 2.—The detour map received Thursday at the Fayette County Automobile club office showed very few detours in this vicinity.

Not a single detour was shown on Fayette county roads but many were shown to the south in Ross and Highland counties. One was shown between here and Columbus.

Just before reaching Bainbridge or the Hillsboro-Bainbridge road a detour is encountered. The detour is marked between Bainbridge and Chillicothe. The detour immediately north and south of Mt. Sterling are still marked and it will be well for the motorist to take the London route to Columbus.

There are no detours between this city and Springfield, Chillicothe, Wilmington, or Xenia, according to the map.

MODIFY FREIGHT CAR RATES NOW

Columbus, Aug. 2.—Through the efforts of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation a concession has been made by the railroads regarding the minimum weight for cars of greater length than ordered. If a farmer asks for a 36-foot car, for instance, and the railroad finds it necessary to supply a 38-foot car, it has been the practice of the railroads to charge the minimum weight for the longer car.

On the petition of the transportation department of the Federation, acting on the complaint of C. B. Newton, secretary-treasurer of the Wood County Farm Bureau, the Central Freight Association made a

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizziness and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

COMMANDER OF ARMY IN IRELAND TAKEN

Dublin, July 26.—Gen. Sir Nevill MacReady, commander in chief of the British troops in Ireland, General Cameron and General Strickland, for whom a supreme court writ was issued yesterday surrendered to the court today. Simultaneously the court ordered the release of two Sinn Féin prisoners who were under death sentence pending an appeal of their case.

The writ calling for the appearance or arrest of the three British officers grew out of habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of the Sinn Féiners. The Sinn Féiners had been ordered produced but the military authorities failed to obey the court order.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

SOME GOOD TOMATO DISHES

The good housekeeper likes to take advantage of the garden's offerings as the seasons come around and give her family an abundance of the fresh fruits and vegetables while they last. Tomatoes are a popular vegetable and the following recipes for serving them may be a help to my readers:

Broiled Tomatoes on Toast: Remove skins from ripe tomatoes by dipping them into boiling water for almost two minutes, by means of a cheese-cloth bag, then plunging them into cold water for a second; the loosened skins may then be rubbed off with the fingers. Cut each tomato in half and dip the halves into melted butter, then into finely crushed and seasoned cracker crumbs. Now broil them on a cookie sheet or any other pan that is flat and rimless and from which they may be slipped onto toast, when done, without having to be lifted (which tends to break them). When the tomato halves are soft and the crumbs are brown, they are done. Slide them gently onto pieces of toast which have been dipped into the following sauce:

White Onion Sauce: Rub to a smooth paste 4 tablespoons of flour and 1/2 cup of butter, then add it to 1-1/2 cups of cold milk which is in a small saucepan, and heat, stirring constantly. When of the consistency of thick cream, add 1 large onion which has been put through a food chopper, and salt and pepper to suit individual taste. This amount of sauce will moisten 6 slices of toast.

Baked Chived Tomatoes with Cream Sauce: Wipe 6 large ripe tomatoes and pick each one several times with a fork. Place them in an agateware pan with a very little hot water and a small lump of butter and bake in a moderate oven until soft. Then very carefully remove skins and arrange them on a serving dish; pour over them a hot white sauce.

made exactly like the White Onion Sauce given above, only with the chopped onion left out. Sprinkle the tomatoes thickly with finely-chopped chives and serve at once.

Stuffed Baked Tomatoes: Cut slices from the top of large ripe tomatoes, take out most of the interior part, chopping it finely. To one-half of this chopped pulp add left-overs from broiled mackerel or any other cooked fish, and also cracker crumbs to suit individual taste, salt, pepper and if liked, with chopped green peppers. Put the hollowed-out tomato cups with this mixture, sprinkle the tops with buttered bread crumbs and bake for 15 minutes in a hot oven.

Tomato Souffle: Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a saucepan and stir into it 1-1/4 teaspoons of salt and pepper to taste, then add 5 tablespoons of flour, mix to a smooth paste, and 1-1/2 cups of stewed tomatoes; let boil up once or twice rapidly and stir into the mixture the yolks of 4 eggs, then remove from fire and fold in gently the stiffly-beaten whites of 4 eggs. Turn into a buttered baking dish large enough so that it will not be more than one-half full, and bake until puffy and firm in a moderate oven.

Tomato Ramekins: This is a good way of using up left-over bits of tomato—either uncooked or stewed. Mix the tomato with an equal amount of seasoned bread crumbs and fill small individual baking dishes with this mixture. Cover the tops with finely chopped or grated cheese and bake till hot through, and the cheese melted in a moderate oven (Never have a quick oven for baking any cheese dish, as intense heat makes cheese leathery.)

DON'T RISK NEGLECT

Don't neglect a constant backache, sharp, darting pains or urinary disorders. The danger of dropsy or Bright's disease is too serious to ignore. Use Doan's Kidney Pills as have your friends and neighbors. An Xenia case.

Aaron Knick, painter, 3 Owens Ave., says: "Breathing the fumes of turpentine put my kidneys out of order. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and were highly colored. Sharp pains through my back made me wince. I was in misery all the time, because I was afraid to make a move because of the sharp pains that shot through me. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Jones' Pharmacy and in a week, they helped me. It only took one box to cure me of the attack. I haven't had a return of that trouble since, but I have taken a few Doan's occasionally and they have kept me well."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Knick had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

BRIGHT DAYS CHAPTER 108

I had been shopping. As I came out of a shop and started to cross the street I saw a woman in front of me acting in a bewildered manner, evidently confused by the maza of cars. She had not waited for the traffic officer's signal to cross. Suddenly she turned quickly just as a big touring car came tearing around the corner. Acting on impulse I jumped into the street, and pulled her from a foot of the machine. I was just bruised by the fender, and knocked down, but was not hurt, until someone raised me I had no idea it was Margaret I had tried to save. She was on the curb a bit hysterical, as she invariably was when anything happened.

"That's the lady what saved your life," the officer said gratefully as he helped me stand beside her.

"Margaret! Then 'Vera!'"

"Are you hurt?" she asked after a moment.

"No, Margaret, not a bit—just a scratch or two." I turned to walk away. A crowd had gathered and I felt embarrassed. She caught my sleeve.

"My car is just across the street. I was trying to get to it when I became a little frightened. I will set you down."

Before we reached the house she took a folded paper from her pocket. "I want you to read this, Vera. I don't want you to think it is because you saved my life that I am grateful." I read:

"Vera: Will you come to dinner with Keith and Mrs. Aldrich, and will you forgive anything you may think needs forgiveness in my actions, and be friends? It will make Keith very happy. Margaret."

I smiled through happy tears. It was so unlike Margaret—so unlike what anyone else would do. She had not owned herself in the wrong. But I was too happy at the thought of our becoming friends to dwell on her manner of apology. Keith would be happy. Even Margaret had come to see that things, as they were must be hard for him.

"Indeed, I forgive you Margaret, and I will be so happy, too."

We all enjoyed our dinner at Margaret's, and Keith fairly beamed. He put one arm about me the other about Margaret and said:

"The two people I love best on earth."

When we reached home and were alone he took me in his arms and said:

"Vera, dear, Margaret will not change perceptibly all at once. But you have made me very happy by accepting her apology. I had begun to fear I could not stand the strain of my life. I was so worried because you two continued to be at cross purposes. I wanted to be with you. I love you better than ever before. I feared you would be weary from me because of the lonely hours I had caused you—and from which your young friends had rescued you. Try, dear, if Margaret is reasonable, to be as patient and as forgiving as possible—for my sake."

"It is all for your sake, Keith. I do not think I could possibly have forgiven her for any other reason." "And you still love me after all I have made you suffer?"

"I love you with all my heart, Keith."

Two weeks later my baby boy was born. God gave him to me to ease the pain the loss my first child had left.

Mrs. Aldrich remained with us until he was a month old.

We named him for Keith. He was Keith Sanderson, Jr.

Margaret and the girls made much of him.

"It's just lovely to have a baby in the family," Gloria said as she begged the nurse to let her hold him.

Margaret, Mrs. De Lisle, dear Mrs. Hunter and several others vied with each other as to how much they could do for him.

At Keith's suggestion, I asked Margaret to be his godmother. She was enormously pleased, and seemed nearer to me than ever before.

In time I felt I should win her entirely.

Sallie and Jack Underwood were married and as happy as "clams at high tide," so Jack said.

Tom Benedict pretended to be terribly disappointed because we had not named our boy for him. He also was soon to be married to a charming girl friend of Erma's.

Erma and Jim spent much of their time with us. Keith had become fond of Jim, although he was so much younger, and Erma and I were very happy over it.

No matter how hard I looked I could find no single cloud in my sky that once lacked a silver lining. For—at last Keith was happy and satisfied. The solution of our difficulties had been a home of our own. The End.

"STOP THAT!"—there are homes where this phrase is heard more often than any other, unless it be "you mustn't," "you can't," "don't do that again," "you must," or "you shall." They are not pleasant homes.

And there are homes where the children are like Pasty—they just grow. They are never disciplined or controlled or taught in any way. And these are dangerous homes.

But can there be homes where the child is guided—not forced or dominated, not allowed to run wild either; but helped to find its own way right? If you are wondering about this, read "THE NEW GENERATION," by Jane Phelps—a big story of modern problems by this master of the "married life serial." Watch for the first chapter in this column tomorrow—The Editor.
